Critical Infrastructure Industry Employee

To Whom It May Concern:

This serves as verification that I am a full-time or temporary critical infrastructure industry employee or subcontractor of Fibrebond Corporation, located in Minden, Louisiana, a company that is part of the Department of Homeland Security's Critical Infrastructure Sector.

I will be performing work that is directly related to Fibrebond's manufacturing of mission critical modular structures for the power, generator, data center and telecommunications industries. Fibrebond structures have a high level of electrical integration within the product to assimilate the industrial power gear, generator and mobile telecommunications equipment. Fibrebond's customers rely on its structures and electrical integration capabilities to provide deliverable products and services to their end customers, which include petrochemical companies, medical facilities, governmental agencies, mobile telecommunications providers and large data center operations.

As an employee that is exempt from the stay-at-home orders issued by the local, state, and/or federal authorities, please allow clear and unfettered passage to and from my home and Fibrebond's facility.

Should you have any questions, or to further confirm my employment with Fibrebond, please do not hesitate to contact the following:
